

DPAS celebrates 15 years of dental plan administration services

DPAS toasted their 15th anniversary at 15:15pm on the 15th July 2011 – attended by over 100 invited guests, including Lords, Ladies, friends and colleagues. This event was held at their Wiltshire Headquarters, nestling within the beautiful Fonthill Estate, in the rural countryside of Tisbury.

The day was intended to give the Directors and staff of DPAS the opportunity to thank all their guests for their support over the years and to look forward to everything that the future might hold.

In a speech to mark the occasion, Chairman and founder of DPAS, Quentin Skinner, briefly explained his motivations for starting DPAS in the first place. His desire to offer a solution to dentists who felt ready to move on to a new stage of maturity was a driving factor for Quentin and his vision was to offer practice-branded dental plans as the optimal funding method for dentistry. And so was born a straightforward dental plan administration service that provided a no-nonsense, great value solution for practices who wanted to ease their conversion to private practice and simultaneously solve the headaches of plan administration, a premise which is as valuable today as it was 15 years ago.

Refreshingly, despite their growth DPAS appear never to have lost sight of their 'raison d'être'. Their company culture, which is one of care and dedication, was evident throughout the celebrations, seeming to underpin DPAS' overriding approach to life and business. A bespoke party organised and executed to DPAS' own unique brand, subtle and understated, it perfectly encapsulated exactly what DPAS stands for.
