DPAS is more than a dental plan provider; it's a family - a family of experts and a family of dentists, offering a family of products. Having set up and run dental plans with supplementary insurance for over 1,200 dentists nationwide across more than 550 dental practices, DPAS deliver a professional service at a competitive rate that has proven to attract many practices from other plan providers.

your dental plans

Your practice. Your patients. Your choice.

Today, their extensive product portfolio includes practice-branded payment plans, membership plans, children's plans, and a new dental implant accident protection policy, all designed to enhance the attraction and retention of private patients within your practice. To complement this, DPAS have recently launched their online "marketing toolbox", to help customers with marketing planning, advice on attracting and retaining patients, as well as tips on how to write interesting copy for adverts and brochures.

DPAS also run both evening and full-day educational seminars designed to demonstrate how payment plans can help develop a successful private practice, as well as focusing on many other key themes, including marketing your practice, improving practice profitability and motivating your team. Why not ask DPAS about upcoming dates at the 2010 BDA Conference and reserve a place while you're there!
