

DPAS Dental Plans takes on new recruits

DPAS Dental Plans is pleased to announce the further strengthening of its sales and marketing team. Following the appointment of Commercial Director Dean Hallows at the start of the year, the team has grown rapidly and now has three additional members.

The new recruits bring with them over 50 years' experience within the healthcare industry and include Business Development Manager Mandy Holdstock, Practice Consultant Gemma Lock and new Marketing & Sales Assistant Laura Parsons.

With experience gained in healthcare and dental companies including Dentsply, Johnson & Johnson, GlaxoSmithKline and Care UK, Dean is delighted to have the new recruits on board, saying: "DPAS is renowned for the great service we deliver to our clients. We offer a host of marketing and business services to support our practices and having a larger team in place means we can now be even more responsive to their needs."
